THE PREMIUM MOWER & REAPER.

WARDER'S Special Diploma and Grand Medal of Honor as the best combined Mower, Hand-like Reaper, and Self-Riding Reaper, on exhibition at the great fair of the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, October 10th, 1866. OREGON AND BUCKEYE PATENTS. At the great trial of Reapers and Mowers, at Auburn, N. Y., in July last, by the New York State Agricultural Society, this Machine was awarded the first Premium over all others in Class. This class was the most important of any, as it embraced Mowing, and Hand or Self-Riding Reapers in the same Machine. This Machine has been awarded Medals and first Premiums by the Pennsylvania and Iowa State Fairs, and by hundreds of County Fairs in all parts of the country. This Machine took the first Premium at the Adams County Agricultural Fair, held at Bendersville, September, 1866. Also, Ball's Ohio and Russell's Screw Power. Both first-class Machines, having sold a number of them in the last three years. They have given general satisfaction wherever used. We ask farmers before buying a machine, to call and examine these machines before purchasing elsewhere, as they will be able to make a better selection. We could produce quite a number of certificates from some of our best farmers in the county, but deem it unnecessary, as we warrant these machines to give satisfaction with a fair trial, or no sale. Insured for one season. Extras always kept on hand. We have made arrangements to have repairing done when needed at any time, and on moderate terms. With the above we have for sale a number of valuable Farming Implements.

SULKY CORN PLOUGH.

Can be used for ploughing and cultivating corn—finishing one row at a time. Can also be used for loosening up corn ground or putting in seedling; by raising the front shovels it can be used for marking out corn ground—marking in rows at a time. A Complanter can be attached, planting two rows at a time.

CORN CRUSHERS.

For crushing corn in the ear or shelled.

STEEL COMPOSITION BELLS.

For Schools, Churches, Farms, &c.

STEEL PLOUGHS (SAVING) PATENT, LAY RAKES, HAND OR SELF-RIDING, CHARGING GRASS DRILLS—(WILLIAMS' PATENT) WITH CROWELL'S GUANO ATTACHMENT, HARRIS' BURG GRASS FAN—(REYNOLDS' PATENT), considered the best mill ever used in this country—an article every farmer should have—the best in the market.

Any of the above machines can be had by calling on, or addressing, the subscriber, 2 miles from Gettysburg, on the Harrisburg road, where specimens can be seen.

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND

J. W. Bradley's celebrated Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE SPRING) SKIRT.

THE wonderful flexibility and great comfort of this skirt, and the ease with which it can be put on and taken off, will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small space as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress, an invaluable quality in traveling, not found in any Single Spring Skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterward willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary Skirts will have been thrown aside as useless.

The Hoops are covered with Double and Triple Thread, and the bottom Hoops are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered, preventing them from wearing out when dragging down soaps, stains, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies, and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the Standard Skirt of the Fashionable World.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Clothing, viz: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, with Shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, inquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition, be particular to notice that Skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the link stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the center, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together in which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

For Sale in all Stores where First Class Skirts are sold, throughout the United States and elsewhere.

Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the Patent, WEST, BRADLEY & CO., 97, 99, 101, and 103 E. 8th St., N. Y. April 23.—11

SPIRIT VISITANTS.

BY HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

When the hours of day are numbered, And the voices of the night, Wake the letter soul that slumbered, To a holy, calm delight;

Ere the evening lamps are lighted, And, like phantoms grim and tall, Shadows from the faded fire-light Dance upon the parlor wall;

Then the forms of the departed, Linger at the open door; The beloved, the true-hearted, Come to visit me once more.

He, the young and strong, who cherished Noble longings for the truth, By the roadside fell and perished, Weary with the march of life;

They, the holy ones and weakly, Who the cross of suffering bore, Told of their pale hands so meekly, Spoke with us on earth no more!

And with them, the being beautiful, Who unto my youth was given, More than all those else that love me, And is now a saint in heaven.

With a low and noiseless footstep Comes that messenger divine— Takes the vacant chair beside me, Lays her gentle hand in mine.

And the slits and gazes at me With those deep and tender eyes, Like the stars so still and true, Looking downward from the skies.

Uttered not, yet comprehended, Is the spirit's voiceless prayer; Soft rebukes, in blessings ended, Breathing from her lips of air.

O, though oft depressed and lonely, All my fears are laid aside; If I but remember, God, Such as these have lived and died.

THE STRUGGLE.

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again," And from the smouldering ruins the pale Bear sceptre o'er her own domain.

So much have taught, so hard have rung, And through the world the words have rung As though sent from an iron tongue.

Worthy the gods the grand old song Which tells to many a waiting throng That Right shall triumph over Wrong.

The song shall ring forevermore, Till all of manly human lore Has drifted on the Lethian shore:

And then she notes may die, and be Followed by grander melody Of Truth's completed victory.

But with to-day's unfinished song, Which tells of Truth, and Right and Wrong To those who, weary, battle long.

There comes a low and solemn tone— A rhythmic kind of monotone— Rushed, as if spoken near a throne:

When Truth is crushed, help her to rise, For though Truth never, never dies, Error has lived through centuries.

Truth enured to earth may rise again Through all the wilderness of pain; And then begin a grander reign.

But she may need a thousand years To amount to where her throne appears, And all those years bear stain of tears.

Miscellaneous.

There is no Death.

"There is no death," said a form Walks o'er the tomb with sad tread, He bears our best loved ones away, And then we call them dead."

Beautiful the thought contained within those lines. "There is no death." How sweet to think this earth is but a resting-place, a stepping-stone to yonder shining home of peace and happiness, a connecting tie to bind us to a land where sorrow is unknown, where grief and care will never enter. "There is no death." No! life is but a vast ocean, bearing us onward to realms immortal, where the spirit shall forever dwell with God.

Like angels walking on silent waters, like beautiful shadows stealing over the quiet earth, so float we mortals on the cloud-waves of life, which border on the shores of eternity. And though hard to part with loved and near ones, they are not "dead." No, they have only gone before, to put on their robes of immortality. Hand in hand with that "angel form" they wander in a world of eternal bliss and unending bloom. They are not "dead." We have but laid them "neath the green sod, to be borne upward on angel wings.

"Room, gentle flowers, our loved ones would pass to Heaven."

"How sweet a thought! Passing to Heaven through a pathway of flowers, to bloom brightly there before God's throne. Oh, "there is no death!" This but a silent sleep we take, ere we awake in glory to dwell with God. O! may we all improve life's hours, those hours laden with smiles and tears, pleasures and cares, sunshine and storms, that when the "angel form" bids us come, we may be prepared to enjoy the blessings of a world where truly it may be said, "there is no death."

Some persons are capable of making great sacrifice, but few are capable of concealing how much the effort has cost them; and it is this concealment that constitutes their virtue. C. J. TYSON.

Learn all you can.

Never omit any opportunity to learn all you can. Sir Walter Scott said even in a stage-coach, he always found somebody who could tell him something that he did not know before. Conversation is frequently more useful than books for purposes of knowledge. It is therefore, a mistake to be morose and silent among persons whom you think to be ignorant; for a little sociability on your part will draw them out, and they will be able to teach you something, no matter how ordinary their employment.

Indeed, some of the most sagacious remarks are made by persons of this description, respecting their particular pursuits. Hugh Miller, the Scotch geologist, owes not a little of his fame to observations made when he was a journeyman stone mason and working in a quarry. He well said, that there was but one good, which is knowledge, and one evil, which is ignorance. Every grain of sand goes to make the heap. A gold digger takes the smallest nugget, and is not fool enough to throw them away because he hopes to find a large lump sometime.

So in acquiring knowledge, we should never despise an opportunity, however unpromising. If there is a moment's leisure spend it over good or instructive talking with the first you meet.

The Power of Woman.

Whatever may be the customs and laws of a country, the women of it decide the morals. They reign because they hold possession of our affections. But their influence is more or less salutary, according to the degree of esteem which is granted them. Whether they are our idols or companions, the reaction is complete, and they make us such as they are themselves. It seems as if nature connected our intelligence with their dignity, as we connect our morality with their virtue. This, therefore, is a law of eternal justice; man cannot degrade women without himself falling into degradation; he cannot raise them without himself becoming better. Let us cast our eyes over the globe and observe two great divisions of the human race, the east and the west. One-half of the ancient world remains without progress or thought and under the load of a barbarous cultivation; women are servile. The other half advance towards freedom and light; the women are loved and honored.

The Truth.

In every situation woman has more cause of grief than man, and suffers more than he. Man has his strength and the exercise of his attention, thinks, looks forward to the future, and finds consolation in it; but the woman stays at home, remains face to face with her sorrow, from which nothing distracts her; she descends to the very depth of the abyss if she is open, measures it and often fills it with her vows and tears. To feel, to suffer, to devote herself, has ever been the life of woman.

Passion.

The torrent and the blast can mar the loveliest scenes in nature. War with her ruthless hand may rival the elements in their work of destruction; but it is passion alone that can lay waste to the human heart. Whirlwind and the flood have duration in their existence, and have bounds for their fury; but passion covers from the devastation of the conflict, with a fertility that seems enriched by the blood of its victims; but there are feelings that no human agency can limit, and mental wounds which are beyond the art of man to heal.

Children may teach us one blessing, one virtue—the art of being easily happy.—Nature has given to them that useful power of accommodation to circumstances which compensates for many external disadvantages, and it is only by injudicious management, that it is lost. Give him but a moderate portion of food and kindness, and the peasant's child is happier than the duke's; free from artificial wants, unsatisfied by indigence, all nature ministers to his pleasure. He can derive no felicity from a bit of hazel twig, or fish for it successfully in a puddle.

A gentleman one day asked a little girl, an only child, how many sisters she had, and she told, "three or four." Her mother asked Mary, when they were alone, what had induced her to tell such an untruth. "Why, mamma," cried Mary, "I didn't want him to think you were so poor that you hadn't but one child. Wouldn't he thought we were dreadful poor?"

Mr. Bear was at a public dinner, two gentlemen by the name of Bird being in the company. After the cloth was removed, Mr. Bear, who was a good singer, was called on to oblige the company with a song. He immediately rose and said: "Gentlemen, your conduct on this occasion is so highly improper, that I cannot help noticing it."

"For why?" said the gentlemen.

"That you should call on a Bear to sing, when you have two Birds in the company."

A Sunday School teacher, deploring the lack of attendance on his ministrations, appealed to the few present:

"What can I do," said he, "to get the boys and girls here?"

"I know," said one of the "archbishops."

"What is it?"

"Give 'em all five cents apiece."

A sharp old gentleman, traveling out West, got beside his wife in a crowded car by requesting the young man who sat beside her to "please watch that woman while he went into another car, as she was likely to have a fit."

A Lobster's Revenge.

An amusing, but no doubt painful incident, called "The Lobster's Revenge," found among the trials before the Paris tribunal of Correctional Police, in 1852, was that against a dealer in fish, who was summoned by a Madame Grebouchet, who claimed thirty francs damages for the injury caused to her nose by one of the defendant's lobsters. The plaintiff, wishing to regale her husband with a delicacy for his dinner, went to the market and was bargaining for a lobster, which she took up in her hand, but threw it down again, saying it was not fresh. The fishwife protested that it was alive, but Madame Grebouchet asserted the contrary. To satisfy herself that such was the case, she a second time applied her nose to it, when the lobster, as if in defence of its owner's vanity, seized hold of Madame Grebouchet's nose with its claws, and held it fast. She screamed for assistance, but instead of immediately rendering aid, the dealer and her companions around burst out into a laugh, and it was some little time before the nose of the lady could be released. The fishwoman, in her defence, maintained that she was not to blame, and that the mischief was solely caused by the imprudence of Madame Grebouchet in applying her prominent feature so closely to the lobster's claw when she had been told that it was alive. The Tribunal, taking the same view of the case, dismissed the complaint, and the plaintiff was ordered to pay costs.

Convivial.

A Philadelphia gentleman of festive tastes, last week assisted at a heavy dinner, took much potabile, and did not leave for home until ever so many o'clock. On reaching his door, and finding his key, he became satisfied that he was essentially convivialized, and not precisely in the condition which a good husband should be in to meet a good wife. Cautiously entering the hall he stopped, listened a moment, heard no noise, and congratulated himself that the family were asleep. Quietly he took off overcoat, drew off boots, turned off hall-light, slowly ascended stairs to family bed-room, hesitated at the door, believed he was reasonably right, stealthily entered, found gas turned low, wife apparently asleep, thought she was asleep, sat down, listened again, no stir; began to undress; got coat, vest, pants, drawers, stockings all safely off, was journeying carefully toward couch when wife's bosom quietly asked:

"Coming to bed, dear?"

"Yes, love."

"Well, dear, hadn't you better take off your hat?"

The Best Color.

In one of the New England parishes, since the commencement of the reform of temperance, at a meeting held for the transaction of business, a proposition was introduced and carried for painting the meeting-house. Of course it was necessary to decide what color it should be painted. One gentleman proposed white; another green; another brown; another yellow; another red; and reasons were offered for each. At last a

Mr. Moderator, I move that it be painted rum color; and I will give a reason. There is Colonel—who sits near you, has had his face painted rum color these fifteen years, and it grows brighter and brighter every year."

A Buffalo Objectionable.

A verdant Englishman, stopping at the Brevoort the other day, who never had a sleigh-ride in this country, or any other perhaps, was to the stables of the hotel for "a nice thing, you know—something dashy," and the proprietor ordered the hostlers to give the gentleman "a new cutter, with the bay mare and a large buffalo."

"Oh, no, none of that now, my dear fellow. None of your American jokes on me, you know. I'm not much used to that sort of thing you see. I know you're strange set of people out here. But never mind the buffalo. Just leave that humbug out, and give me an 'orse by 'imself. He'll answer. Keep your blamed buffalo for one of your own Yankee boys."

"I now see but one chance for you to escape the gallows," said a young lawyer to his client, after his having been convicted of murder in the first degree.

A YOUNG LADY

RETURNING to her country home, after a sojourn of a few weeks in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft rosy complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the CHASSIAN BALM, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing, and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the capillary it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price, $1, sent by

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

Throw away your false tresses, you switchers, your wig—
B. structure of comfort, and not worth a fig.
Come, you, you, you, come, you, you, you, and your hair will be as good as new.REPARATOR CAPILLI.
FOR restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the hair to grow upon the smoothest face in five to eight weeks, or half upon bald heads in from two to three months. Ignorant practitioners have asserted that it is not a thing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It is certainly difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations offered for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and some have even thrown away large amounts in vain. To such we would say, try the Repurator Capilli: it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, post paid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned on our application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. Address: W. L. CLARK & CO., Chemists,

The Adams Sentinel.

OTTYESBURG:
Tuesday, May 21st, 1867.

TO THE PATRONS OF THE SENTINEL.

The first change during the whole of my Editorial career, which has been extended to more than half a century, has just been consummated. This No. is the last that the "SENTINEL" will be issued as a distinct journal, a position which it has sustained since the year 1849. This change has been brought about from a variety of circumstances all pointing to the result which is now accomplished.

The "SENTINEL" and the "STAR" have been consolidated, and now united, form one Journal. Hon. E. WARD, McPHEE, and DAVID A. B. HARRIS, Esq., have purchased the establishment of the "STAR," and, with myself, constitute the Editorial Corps of the new paper, which goes forth to the world as "THE STAR AND SENTINEL." I need not say one word of my Editorial co-partners. They are known to all. Hon. E. WARD, McPHEE, has a national reputation, which gives to the paper a character which but few journals possess.

My own Editorial career, I say nothing. My life-long efforts have been as household words to you—familiar, and, I hope, pleasant and instructive. Upon the whole, I can before you, proud of my associates, and with a confidence in their talent and experience, who cannot but make a deep impression upon our community, and far beyond our country. The welcome with which this union has been received, is a clear and unequivocal evidence that the movement is one of deep interest and import. To the party of which both have been the exponents, it is of a highly gratifying character, and of momentous importance. The whole party is a unit, and you have in the country but one advocate of its principles—"THE STAR AND SENTINEL"—and that Journal will live in its trumpet-tones, no uncertain sound.

The new paper starts on its brilliant career with more than 2,000 good, substantial subscribers, thus showing a popularity very rarely surpassed in any part of the interior of the State. It must, beyond a doubt, take a high rank among the journals of the State—and presents a medium for advertising rarely equalled.

I have now but a word to say to the kind patrons of the thus honored "SENTINEL." They have sustained and cheered me amidst all the storms and tempests of a long Editorial career, and I thank them from the inmost recesses of my heart for the kindness and generosity which have been for so many years shown to me, and have sustained me through a life which has not been a short one. I do not part with them—no, no, but I give to them the additional advantage of my two talented and energetic associates, who will render the paper far more acceptable than it has ever been. Knowing them, and knowing their peculiar capability for rendering the paper interesting, I feel a confidence in asking for a renewed effort on the part of my friends to place "THE STAR AND SENTINEL" on the high and broad foundation it must and shall deserve.

Those subscribers to the "SENTINEL" who have paid in advance, will receive the new Journal until their time expires—which will be noted on their paper from week to week.

Sudden Death.
Mr. Daniel Gohrecht, an esteemed citizen of Union township, this county, died very suddenly on Friday week. Whilst engaged in ploughing, he fell suddenly dead, though when going to his work seemed to be in the enjoyment of usual health. He was 50 years of age, and leaves a wife and eight children to mourn their sudden loss of a kind husband and father.

Attention is called to the advertisement in another column, of Madame H. A. PERRIN, of Buffalo, N. Y., the great Astrologist and Clairvoyant. Madame P. can be consulted by letter, on all affairs of life, past, present and future.

Read the Advertisement of Messrs. HENRY SHUTTS & CO. in another column, headed "Afflicted, suffer no More."

The people of the South may rest assured that the Republican party will keep its faith with them—will and by its express and implied pledges. It will conform to the terms of the reconstruction acts of the last Congress—

if the people of the South will come back under those acts, and elect loyal men to Congress, we venture to say there will not be found one Republican in a hundred to resist their complete restoration to the rights of States within the Union.

The rebel Gen. McCausland, who burned Chambersburg by order of General Early, is now at his home in Mason county, West Virginia. A Virginia exchange says he has been favored by Gen. Grant with a letter which excuses him from any danger of imprisonment on trial for the Chambersburg affair, and he is every assurance of protection from the authorities of the State of West Virginia.

Special care ought to be taken of McCausland, who performed unquestionably the most brilliant act committed by any rebel officer during the war. That Gen. Grant, and the professedly Republican authorities of West Virginia, should give him letters excusing him from danger of imprisonment or trial for the Chambersburg affair, is, to say the least, a measure of protection, is only in fiction with the times. Such a distinguished man—like Jeff. Davis, no doubt, a Christian, a patriot and a statesman, full a head and a shoulder above his fellows, should be carefully preserved as one of the ornaments of the nation and the brightest illustration of loyalty. He is very dear to Pennsylvania, having cost the State $200,000 in cash out of the State Treasury. Besides a handsome amount of taxes released in consequence of his little border-fire at Chambersburg, and he must be made much of accordingly. —York Dispatch.

The following articles we clip from the Hanover Spectator of Thursday last:

EXPLOSION OF FINGERS.—On Wednesday morning of last week, Baltimore street, near Market square, was the scene for a little while, of quite a stirring excitement. It appears that a quantity of fireworks were stored away in a shed, owned by Mr. Wagner's store, and by some means or other fire was communicated to them, with a terrific explosion took place, shattering the show case to pieces and causing a general clearing out of the inmates of the store. The flames were speedily subdued and very little damage was done, except the destruction of the show case and some other trifling articles.

ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday morning of last week, Mr. Ignatius DeLious, residing on Baltimore street, and with a severe and painful accident while wrestling with another young man, by which one of his legs was broken and the ankle dislocated. Surgical aid was rendered by Dr. Smith, who reduced the fracture and dislocation, and Mr. D. is now doing very well under the circumstances. This occurrence should prove a lesson to all persons who indulge in this dangerous practice, and we trust it will have the effect of putting an immediate stop to it in our town.

RAILROAD ELECTION.—At an election held by the stockholders of the Hanover Branch Railroad Company, on Monday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

PRESIDENT.—John L. WICKELBERGER, Managers—Captain L. J. JENKINS, Joseph ALTON, Henry WIT, Reuben Young, Joseph DeLious and David West.

Temperance Convention.
After due consultation between the pastors of the different churches of Chambersburg and the Rev. C. D. Clemenowicz, C. Secretary of the State Temperance Union, was unanimously agreed to hold: under the auspices of the State Union, in Chambersburg, on Tuesday, the 28th of May, commencing at 2 o'clock, P. M., in the Court House, for the district embracing the counties of Adams, Franklin and Fulton.

An invitation is extended to the pastors of the different churches to attend as delegates, and to appoint five delegates from each charge and also for each temperance organization to appoint five delegates. It is requested that all attention to the convention on the Sabbath previous (the 26th,) from the pulpit, either by sermon or notice. A children's meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 29th, at 2 o'clock, P. M. [Papers in the district please copy.]

The Famine in South Carolina.
Mr. W. Gilmore Simms says that, so far as he can see, there is no possible escape for South Carolina from general famine, in which all must suffer, and many perish—unless the charities of the outer world should be more bountiful than hitherto. He says that the very beasts are dropping dead at their work for want of food.

This is the story which is coming from almost every section of the South; and yet millions at the North, who would give millions to avert the consequences of a general famine at the South, do not realize that there is any danger of this dire calamity. —Boston Traveller.

Meeting in Aid of the South.
HARRISBURG, Pa., May 18.—In obedience to the call of the mayor of the city, a number of citizens assembled in the court-house this morning and organized an auxiliary to the Philadelphia Southern Relief Association. They agreed to call a public meeting for Monday evening next, to secure funds for disbursement by the association. Large contributions have already been sent from here, and the work seems to be earnest. Hon. Simon Cameron, Judge Pearson, and other distinguished gentlemen have been named upon the committee by the mayor.

Republican Prospects in Tennessee.
The Nashville Press of the 14th instant is hopeful of the re-election of Governor Brownlow, and the entire Republican ticket in Tennessee. It says:

The account brought by our friends from all quarters of the State are favorable beyond our highest expectations. The Republicans are determined and confident everywhere. Colored speakers are taking the stump for Brownlow in their respective neighborhoods, and making a good fight. Governor Brownlow will bury his opponent out of sight, and the Legislature will be ours by an overwhelming majority. If we make judicious nominations we can carry every Congressional district. Let us bring out our strongest men everywhere, and victory will be ours.

John C. Breckinridge, Jake Thompson, Benjamin, and other called rebels, can now return to their old homes with impunity. Treason is not a crime—though it induces its hands in blood and starves men and women—treason is a bad offense; traitors when they fall in to the hands of the President are treated like princes. Let the entire host of exiled traitors come home to their friend, Andrew Johnson. There is fat in the land for all such wretches.

The State of New York owes fifty millions, the county of New York, seventy-five, and the city of New York forty more. Taxation is now at the rate of $27.50 for every man, woman and child in that State.

John Palmer, Esq., the Democratic District Attorney of Bedford county, has decamped to parts unknown. He had collected several thousand dollars of back pay, bounty and pensions for different persons, a number of them poor widows, which he has either squandered or taken with him.

Seventy thousand German emigrants are booked for passage to this country, the present season. They are represented to be of the hardy laboring class.

Davis Released on Bail—Trial set down for November—Enthusiasm in the Court Room.

Jefferson Davis was on Monday released on bail, which, we presume, means that he is never to be brought to trial. On Monday he made his appearance before the Circuit Court for the District of Virginia, in accordance with the writ of habeas corpus. General Burton's return to the writ was read, and Judge J. derived complimented him on obeying the laws and releasing him of the custody of Davis. The United States Marshal immediately served on Davis a bench warrant to answer the Norfolk indictment for treason against the United States. Davis' counsel addressed the Court in favor of their client being admitted to bail, and asking for a delay of his trial. No opposition of moment was made by the counsel for the prosecution, who had just arrived from Washington, after an interview with Attorney General Stanberry. The bail was fixed at $100,000. Judge Underwood announced his readiness to accept the bail, stating at the same time that the responsibility of the delay in bringing the case into Court rested upon the Government and not upon the District Attorney. He also said that one-half of the bail should be given by persons in Virginia. The recognition requires that he is to appear before the Court in November. Among Davis' sureties are Horace Greeley and John Minor Botts. When the name of the latter was called it was received with hisses. Upon the discharge of the prisoner being ordered, he was congratulated by his late companions in rebellion, and held a reception in the court-room, amidst the plaudits of the throng, being greeted with cheers, and the waving of hats until he reached a carriage waiting him, where it is reported, that fifty negroes shook hands with him. He will visit Canada in a few days to see his children. Backbridge is said to have been indicted for treason by the Grand Jury now in session in Richmond. No doubt they expect to bring him to trial, but as he served in the field and had an important command in the Rebel army his release will be speedily effected.

The Old Line Whigs of Virginia. under the lead of John Minor Botts, are assuming positions as Radicals, which cannot fail to be productive of good results. The party in the South which accepts the logic of events, is the party which will rule that section the remainder of the century to which we live. The Southern people cannot afford to engage in such agitation. What they want is a prompt acceptance of the logic which proved rebellion a failure and treason a crime. Mr. Botts appears to have taken his stand on this point. He admits that rebellion is a failure, having accomplished only the personal ruin of those who engaged in it. The old line Whigs of the Old Dominion are satisfied that treason is a crime. This is another grand conclusion. It proves that a portion of the people of the South are beginning to yield to reason; and it shows, that the Rebel army his release will be speedily effected.

The London Daily News has a correspondent in Crete, who writes from a romantic spot on the slope of Mount Ida. His surroundings are, however, the reverse of romantic. The whole mountain, he writes, is covered with the dead bodies of women and children who there sought refuge from the ravages of civil war, only to perish from exposure and starvation. He goes on to say that it would be hard to exaggerate the cruelties of the Turks. They were guilty of acts which it would be an outrage upon decency to mention. As the Great Powers decline to interfere for the protection of the Christian population, they have only to look forward to a continuing struggle, marked by the worst atrocities of barbarian warfare.

Destructive Fires.
PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—The main building of Simeon Lord's cotton and woolen mills, near Darby, was destroyed by fire this morning. The building is valued at $175,000; insured for $100,000. The stock and machinery were valued at $135,000. Two firemen were run over and killed by the engines while returning home.

The State Rights Democrats carried Kentucky in the election of Saturday. Their popular majority is probably less than last year, but only because the vote is lighter. Several of their candidates had been in the Rebel army; nearly every one had notoriously sympathized with the rebellion. There will be some hard swearing required to send their delegation in Congress; but Kentucky is still pro-Slavery, then why should she not be pro-Rebel? Her voters are intent on keeping the negroes under foot; so they uphold the Rebel Democracy as the surest, straightest road to their end. They may not be remarkably loyal, humane, nor far-sighted, but they know what they want, and they will have it.

At the time of the earthquake in Missouri and Kansas, April 21, an acre of ground three miles south of Chicago, on the Miami Canal, sunk ten feet, showing that the shock extended to Ohio. The ground sunk wholly leaving a perpendicular wall of ground ten feet or more on all sides. The canal bank was seriously undamaged by the subsidence.

There was a second shock of an earthquake at Nebraska City at about three o'clock on the morning of the 2d instant. It was of longer duration and more violent than that of the 21th of April. Buildings were moved from their positions, stove pipes tumbled down, and houses rocked to and fro like ships in a heavy sea. The same shock appears to have been felt at St. Mary, Iowa.

A party of West Virginia sportsmen recently spent a day in fox-hunting, and at night left the dogs still running. They ran a flock of sheep, and killed eighty of them. The owners of the dogs handled over $600 and received the carcasses of the sheep.

An Autograph Letter of George Washington.

We were shown a few days ago, a well-preserved autograph letter of General Washington, dated at Philadelphia, February 6, 1797, and addressed to Mr. Slough, in which a request was made of Mr. S. to purchase him two horses to be used in conveying goods and traveling to Mt. Vernon. The letter stated that the horses must be steady, to the draught, not over seven years old, and not to be more than fifteen hands high. The letter was written at the close of his administration, just at the time when he was taking up his permanent abode at Mt. Vernon. It is specific in details, covering two sides of a letter sheet, and is in good state of preservation. It got into the possession of Ex-Gov. Snyder, of this State, many years ago while acting as executor of the Estate of Mr. Slough, from whom it descended to the hands of his son, now deceased, late of the regular army. The letter is now in the possession of Henry Snyder, attorney-at-law, of this city, who will be very happy to show it to any person calling upon him.

The London Daily News has a correspondent in Crete, who writes from a romantic spot on the slope of Mount Ida. His surroundings are, however, the reverse of romantic. The whole mountain, he writes, is covered with the dead bodies of women and children who there sought refuge from the ravages of civil war, only to perish from exposure and starvation. He goes on to say that it would be hard to exaggerate the cruelties of the Turks. They were guilty of acts which it would be an outrage upon decency to mention. As the Great Powers decline to interfere for the protection of the Christian population, they have only to look forward to a continuing struggle, marked by the worst atrocities of barbarian warfare.
